in next target earth an alien civilization multiple thousands of years in advanced technology has interfered with life on earth even before the demise of the dinosaurs their meddling resulted in the creation of atomic weapons during WWII Earth is now in the middle of the twentieth century and the alien civilization has determined that humanity is advancing in technology too fast and will again eliminate all life on Earth as they did when the dinosaurs became a bore to them. Fortunately for Earth the aliens are fighting a war with a sister civilization in their own galaxy so the Earth is a secondary target for now. This alien civilization is a mirror image of humans. Their inability to understand that peaceful cooperation is preferable to aggressively eliminating life forms that are not part of their civilization reflects the divisions found on Earth throughout the existence of humans on our planet. Constant wars and lack of empathy for others has needlessly deprived humanity of hundreds of thousands of resources that could have been used for the betterment of the human race instead of the wanton destruction those wars have wrought. The book ends with the burning question is there anyone or something else out there about the author Johnny W. Underwood is a career soldier joining the US Army at age seventeen immediately after graduating from high school in Arkansas he survived basic combat training at Fort Polk Louisiana in the summer of 1968 and completed advanced individual training as an engineer heavy equipment operator at Fort Leonard Wood Missouri after AIT he was assigned to a field artillery unit in Germany and was promoted into the ranks of the Cannoneers he served in Germany for a cumulative total of eleven years and at Fort Sill Oklahoma the home of the field artillery for a total of thirteen years six and a half of those years were as a drill sergeant other assignments include a tour in Vietnam in 1969-70 two years in South Korea and three years at Fort Lewis Washington he completed the US Army Sergeants Major Course at Fort Bliss Texas in 1986 as a member of class 27 and was the Command Sergeant Major of three battalions two brigades and a corps artillery for the last twelve years of his thirty year Army career after retiring from the Army he was a zone manager for Geico's local office program for five years and a manager in the Geico Military Department for fourteen years he retired from Geico in 2017 he lives in Northern Virginia with his wife of more than thirty six years.

This study aims to introduce the natural resource uses of Dayak Mentebah people of the village Nanga Dua West Kalimantan. It is part of the project Colupsia that focuses on reinforcing small stakeholders' rights. Furthermore, ecological data are collected to support the protection of Indonesia's species-rich and vulnerable tropical forests threatened through high deforestation rates. The local people's perceptions about their environment and land uses were assessed using participatory survey techniques, focus group discussions, scoring exercises, free lists of species, and participatory mapping to further record the traditional practices. A survey was conducted on medicinal plants. The ecological assessment was done through survey plots in different land use units where tree diversity and diameter at breast height was measured. The inhabitants of Nanga Dua are dependent upon forest products for food, material for construction, basketry, etc. Medicinal plants are integral part of the health care system. The traditional shifting cultivation creates a diverse and mosaic-like patchwork of various types of forests having different successional stages. Tree diversity in the land use units was generally high with the primary forest in immediate proximity acting as tree species reservoir.
